- Outside sources such as consumer reporting agencies. This will include motor vehicle records, credit reports and claim history reports.

The Types of Information We May Disclose and To Whom

We may share your information, with some exceptions, with other companies. However, we will not share your Information without your permission with anyone else, unless:

1. They are helping us service or process a transaction; or
2. We are permitted or required to do so by law.

Examples of persons with whom we may share your Information without your permission include:

- Your agent or broker;
- A regulatory or law enforcement authority that may subpoena records with your information from us;
- Insurance support organizations which gather data to help deter or prevent insurance crimes,
- Our affiliates, for internal or agency audits or other organizations that perform a business function for us. This may include, but is not limited to a company that helps us:
 1. Print payment coupons;
 2. Adjust or investigate claims;
 3. Program software to help us process transactions; or
 4. Minimize unnecessary marketing to you.

Security of Your Information

We have procedures and policies in place that help us protect your Information. Access to your protected information is restricted by us to those employees who have a business need. When we share your Information, we protect it when required by federal law with a confidentiality agreement. We also have physical, electronic and procedural safeguards in place that help protect your information.

Insurance Support Organization Reports

Insurance support organizations may keep your information that is contained in the reports they prepare and disclose it to others.

Your Right to Access and Correct Information

You may view and copy in person information about you that is in our files. See Your Right to Your Personal Information.

Our Right to Change this Policy

If we change this policy and the change will affect the disclosure of your Information, we will send you a new privacy notice.
